AMERICA FOR AMERICA—AMERICANS

MCKINLEY AND WILSON ABROAD.

In 1860 William McKinley was burned in effigy in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1894 William D. Wilson was dined and wined in London because he is the author of a Free-trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

It is useless to propose any sensible currency plan until the Republicans get control of Congress.

The gold reserve is now waltzing along in the $70,000,000 gantut, and the stodvers of Uncle Sam's big shop are olling up the journals of the bond-printing presses.

The Democrats have added enough to the public debt to insure the defeat of their party for at least twenty years, without counting any of the other numerous proofs of their incapacity.

RAKING.
A LITTLE DEFENSELESS.

New York Press.
"You have a bad cold," he said.
"I have," replied huskily. "I am so hoarse that if you attempted to kiss me I couldn't even scream."

YOUR LOCAL PAPER.
Oldham City News Era.
Do the city papers say anything in regard to your local news?

Do they contain touches of your school, church, improvements of interest which your home paper publishes?

Do they say a word calculated to draw attention to your own town or to your county and aid their enterprises?

Not a word.

And yet there are men who take a contracted view of this matter, who think that unless they are getting as many square inches of reading room in their own as they do in the city papers they are not getting the worth of their money.

This reminds us of the man who took the largest boots in the box because the price was the same as the pair much smaller that fitted him.

In other words the city papers don't reach the spot. If towns and counties give their local paper more space and the local paper deserves it by aiding the town and the country, then there should be a Grub-baile alliance that will stand against all comers.

The Lexington and Eastern Railroad—formerly Kentucky Union—is making arrangements to form a connection with the Louisville and Nashville in Lexington. It will abandon the tracks of the C. & O. and enter that city via the L. and N.

CRADOCKIANAISMS.

Pairs of Sample Ephemera From the Old Snorer's Pen.

There is only one Craddock. And unless the good Lord makes a misne there will never be another.

He is not only antique, but he's unique as well.

In addition his widespread liberality and positive recklessness in the expenditure of his ample fortune has long excited the envy of his less favored brethren of the Kentucky press.

Here are a couple of gents from the last issue of The Kentuckian—the second displaying a profigacy of expenditure that would have given Russell Sage the jitters. But Crad doesn't care any more for the price of gum shoes than he does for his life.

Hear him.

Making a Paper.—An old politician would not take much interest in giving us the details of his scheme, saying: "Don't you see in sense it is absurd, whereas some young ladies just before asked, 'What did you put that long political article in your paper for?' and crowd out all the other news." It is a remarkable kind of people to make a world and all kinds of reading to make a newspaper.

Verily, Crad, you're right about the latter, and here's proof in your own words:

Show Me.—As we were going to deposit the other week, a heavy shower caused us to get a pair of gum overshoes at Davis & Thompson's, which as the sun came out at dusk we left in them. When we got home we were disappointed. We therefore got another pair, and next day as we sat in our front porch we slipped them off. It seems one of them had slipped them off. Our landlord Brooks of Lexington picked it up and threw it over to Commercial Hotel at Cynthiana, saying it belonged to him. He had been looking for it, but didn't find it. We make this note principally to show joke Brooks and ourselves. But if anyone has the shoes by mistake, express to this office.

For twelve long years I was a great invalid, and at times confined to my bed. I tried every remedy known to science recommended by physicians without receiving any relief. Finally I turned to Brown's Iron Bitters for trial, and two bottles soon relieved me of my back pain, am well and hearty again. W. T. COOK.

After being under care of physicians for twelve years I commenced taking Brown's Iron Bitters. I am now in full health and am entirely cured. It is the best remedy I have ever taken. I can assure you that if you will take this medicine you will be as well as I am.

FRENCH CRISIS.

RADICAL AND SOCIALIST ELEMENT SUCCESSED IN OVERTHROWING THE MILD REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT AS REPRESENTED BY DUPUY CABINET.

MODERATE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT AS REPRESENTED BY DUPUY CABINET.

THE CRISIS HAS BEEN IMMENSE FOR MONTHS.

IT WAS PRECIPITATED NOT BY A GREAT ISSUE, BUT BY A COMPARATIVELY TRIVIAL QUESTION—NEW CABINET ON FOOT.

PARTS, JAN. 15.—The radical and socialist element in the chamber of deputies succeeded Monday in overthrowing the moderate republican government as represented by the Dupuy cabinet. The crisis was imminent, as the members of the chamber of dispatches know, for nearly a month past, and was precipitated, as usually happens in French politics, not by a great issue, but a comparatively trivial question.

The attitude of the government regarding certain railroad contracts.

The council of state, which was appealed to on the question in dispute, decided in favor of the bill taken by the moderate republicans.

The citizens of Peoria have contributed $2,000 in cash besides donations of provisions and clothing for the Nebraska sufferers.

John S. Hollingsworth, one of the most popular citizens of the state, was dropped dead at his home Monday morning with neuralgia of the heart.

In the New York supreme court was begun the third trial of the suit of George Cox to recover $55,000 damages from Russell Sage because of injuries received from the Norcross bomb.

The last of which the amount was found itself in a minority.

The premier then took up the unprecedented course of announcing from the tribune that the ministers could no longer remain in office.

He then adjourned the chamber for the Elysée, and the session was suspended.

The fall of the first cabinet of Casimir-Périer's administration is no ordinary misfortune in the history of the country which has been waged against the president himself almost since his inauguration. It records the triumphs of allied radicalism and socialism over republicanism in the chamber.

The name of France is one of several other signs of the times here which led the London Times Monday to remark that the country is in an abnormal state which can almost be called revolution.

Perier's radical views are well known.

It has been said many times of late by those who were supposed to represent his opinions that he would never consent to preside over a radical or socialist government.

He would resign or appeal to the country by the dissolution of the chamber rather than offer the premier's portfolio to such a man as the present president of the chamber.

It remains to be seen whether the friends of Perier are right.

He must invite Brisson to form a cabinet or ask the senate to dissolve the popular chamber.

It is probable that the chamber will elect the task to Leon Borodet.

It is added that Lockroy, Barthou, Cavagnac and Bourassa will be included in the new cabinet.

The enemies of Perier are implacable, and nothing short of the distinct voice of the country in his favor, obtained through dissolution, will check the campaign against him.

IMPRESSIONS OF ANNAPOLIS.

What a Mason County Lady Observed on a Recent Visit There.

Ed. Ledger: To the Western mind the name Annapolis often suggests nothing more than that of any other state capital; but much of the greatness and glory of our history of a hundred years ago is closely interwoven with that of Annapolis.

One of the most notable buildings is the Statehouse. It occupies a circular square (what a paradox!) in the heart of the city, and from this circle the city radiates. Here in the Senate Chamber 111 years ago Washington resigned his commission. The room is preserved intact as it was upon that memorable occasion, and the scene is commemorated in a painting of immense size which hangs upon the wall.

The day preceding this Congress gave a dinner of 300 covers to the Commander-in-Chief. At night a magnificent ball was given in his honor by the Maryland Assembly. This occasion was graced by the beauty and chivalry of the patriotic old colony, presenting a scene that has never been surpassed even in the gay old town of "Anne Arundel."

Besides this historic house there are many colonial mansions in a state of good preservation. Noteworthy among such is the Carroll and Chase mansions, the latter having been donated for a Woman's Home.

The chief center of interest now at Annapolis is the Naval Academy, which in itself is a beautiful little city. It is picturesquely situated at the mouth of the Severn river and surrounded on three sides by water. The view looking towards the bay, with its varied shipping, from the large warship Monongahela to the smaller fishing craft, is indescribably beautiful. The large and imposing "new quarters," the handsome homes, beautiful grounds, lovely walks and drives make it a scene of fairy-like beauty and enchantment.

Among the attractions of the grounds is the Naval Museum, which is well worth a visit. From the Government is a competitive drill with West Point. Here the grand balls are held. The spacious room, illuminated with innumerable incandescent lights suspended from the lofty and vaulted ceiling, added to the formal decorations and the brilliant uniform of officers and cadets, shimmering silks and lace of lovely women, make a scene which cannot be described, but must be seen to be appreciated.

Citizens of Mayville should bear in mind this is a life opportunity to secure fine free hand Crayon Portraits here at home without the usual risk of one thing promised and another furnished.
